Black Rhino: Namibia and South are each to be allowed to kill and export five black rhinoceros per year.

Threats

1. Black Rhino: Poaching the greatest threat to the species.
2. two ways to stop poaching:
 - a. The first is to protect the rhinos by creating reserves with armed patrols to try to prevent poachers getting access to the animals.
 - b. The second is to reduce demand through outreach educational programmes aimed at traditional medicine practitioners and their patients.
